GBO-3 Launched

On 10 May 2010, the third edition of Global Biodiversity Outlook (GBO-3) was launched in a number of cities around the world, including Alexandria, Bonn, Brasilia, Chamonix, Geneva, London, Manama, Montreal, New York, Nairobi, Panama, and Tokyo. This much anticipated flagship publication of the CBD is the product of close collaboration between the Secretariat of the CBD and the UNEP-WCMC. The report is based on scientific assessments, national reports submitted by governments and a study on future scenarios for biodiversity. Subject to an extensive independent scientific review process, publication of GBO-3 is one of the principal milestones of the United Nation's International Year of Biodiversity. The GBO-3 will be a key input into discussions by world leaders and heads of state at a special high level segment of the U.N. General Assembly on 22 September. Its conclusions will also be central to the negotiations by world governments at the Nagoya Biodiversity Summit in October. The GBO-3 is available in all United Nations languages as well as Portuguese and the full report and related products can be accessed from http://gbo3.cbd.int/.

mental issues. In 2006, he completed a 15-month voyage to the Antarctic on the Sedna IV, a unique 51 metre full-rigged yacht with high-precision scientific and filming equipment. The voyage was documented in his film The Last Continent. Students in hundreds of schools followed the expedition through satellite and internet links to learn about the vulnerability of marine and polar ecosystems. His next multi-year voyage on Sedna IV, planned to begin in the fall of 2010, will focus on biodiversity and involve schools and communities taking part in The Green Wave. This year, Mr. Lemire helped get the International Year of Biodiversity off to a flying start in Montreal with the stage production Paradis Perdu that he co-produced with Dominic Champagne and Daniel Bélanger, and that ran for 21 nights.

On 21 May 2010 in Montreal, in celebration of the MUSÉUMSNATUREMONTRÉAL International Day for Biodiversity and The Green Wave, in the presence of the city Mayor, director of Museums Nature, and representatives of the Quebec Network of alternative public schools (REPAQ), Mr. Lemire joined over 4000 children and parents to throw 'balls of life' to flourish and color the path between the Insectarium and the Biodôme.

The Green Wave celebrations

The Green Wave celebrations 2010 were a splashing success with the participation of over 1000 groups from over 60 countries! Children and youth, along with their parents and teachers, worked hard during the whole school year to learn about and raise awareness on biodiversity. A variety of creative activities took place before and during the International Day for Biodiversity, such as tree and flower planting, cleaning, recycling, workshops, bioblitz and nature walks. On 21 and 22 May, at 10 a.m. groups celebrated by planting or watering a tree, and taking photos of the events. Photos and stories were uploaded on the web site and, at 20:10 local time on 22 May, a virtual green wave appeared on the map! Have a look at the map on which you can learn more about The Green Wave participants: http:// greenwave.cbd.int/en/map 2010 and read the Communiqué: http://www.cbd.int/doc/ press/2010/pr-2010-06-05-greenwave-en.pdf. ### Biodiversity up in 2010 Science Camp

Selected high school students have just experienced an extraordinary week exploring the country's rich biodiversity at the 2010 Science Camp organized by the Science Education Institute (SEI) of the Department of Science and Technology. Fifty-two students and teachers from 13 schools across Metro Manila were invited by the DoST-SEI to attend the event. The event was designed to generate interest among high school students in the study and research on the Philippines' rich natural resources. SEI hoped such interest would encourage them to pursue careers in science. This year's camp was celebrated under the theme, "Celebrating the International Year of Biodiversity: Learning about Coastal and Marine Environment".

La Settimana della Biodiversità

To mark the occasion of the International Year of Biodiversity, Bioversity International – in collaboration with the Comune di Roma – celebrated La Settimana della Biodiversità to highlight the need to enhance the role of biodiversity in agriculture, one of the most precious resources available to humankind.

Geneva has decorated its famous flower clock with the IYB theme and IYB logo. The city has replaced the usual colourful flowers with some 50 native perennial species.

BioBlitz UK 2010

The week of 17-25 May featured a wide range of activities in appreciation of biodiversity. Highlights include walking with wolves, participating in a BioBlitz to survey local wildlife, go on a Scottish Highland safari, visit woodland, moorland, seashore and grassland, and learn how to turn your garden into a wildlife paradise.

Spotlight on Biodiversity

The Redpath Museum is proud to be taking part in the International Year of Biodiversity. A series of films will be shown this summer that will focus on the creatures of our earth and seas, the local and international issues that threaten their (and our) survival, and what people are doing to help. The Museum, one of Canada's oldest free-standing museums, functions as a unique interdisciplinary unit within the Faculty of Science at the McGill University in Montreal.
